Easy steps for registration and to create your first MotoMail.

How Does MotoMail Work?

1. Sender logs onto www.motomail.us to create the letter or takes a hand-written letter to a scanning location.
2. The letter is sent to the MotoMail server.
3. The designated USMC post office down-loads the letter to a special machine which prints, folds and seals it.
4. The letter is delivered through unit mail call.
5. Marine reads and re-reads letter.

MotoMail System has a tremendous positive effect on morale by providing unparalleled delivery times. MotoMail can be submitted worldwide via Internet. It is Fast, Safe, Secure, Accurate, Private...and FREE.

MotoMail Advantages Over Traditional USPS Mail

- MotoMail is a unique Marine Corps system.
- Delivery transit time- usually within 24 hours.
- FREE - No costs to individual users.
- Addresses are 100% correct - No misdirected mail.
- No contamination issues – Anthrax or computer viruses.
- Senders are required only to know unit address, not location
- MotoMail augments USPS letter mail.

MotoMail is Unlike E-mail
Unlike E-mail, it allows a Marine to keep a physical reminder of their loved ones with them at all times and can be read and re-read.

The MotoMail System is Secure and Private
The MotoMail Printer, Folder and Sealer ensures complete privacy and that contents remain confidential.

MotoMail Website Tracks Letter Status at 3 Stages:
Stage 1 - Displays when MotoMail is received at the MotoMail Server
Stage 2 - Displays when MotoMail is downloaded at the Destination Site
Stage 3 - Displays when MotoMail is actually printed at Destination Site

MotoMail Scanning Locations For Hand-written Letters:
Offices at MCB Camp Pendleton, MCAS Miramar, MCAGCC 29 Palms, MCAS Yuma, MCB Camp Lejeune, MCAS Cherry Point, and MCB Quantico.

Motomail Will Print At Designated USMC Post Offices in Theater.

What is Motomail?
(Motovational Mail)

Keeping up with new technological advances, British Forces introduced a similar system to MotoMail called E-bluey which has been in existence since 1999. It was initially designed to serve forces on ships and operational areas. The U.S. Marine Corps tested the E-bluey system in Aug-Sep 2003 at Camp Fox, Kuwait.

The MotoMail service provides a discreet and secure way of sending a letter via the internet which is hand delivered to our Marines. This service is a combination of the electronic world and post office delivery.

Now it is available to Marines and their families and friends who want to send fast correspondence to deployed Marines. Marines serving abroad are able to receive mail from their loved ones usually within 24 hours, not days or weeks.

The sender goes to the website: www.motomail.us to create a letter and then sends it through the MotoMail server. The USMC Post Office serving the recipient's location, downloads the letter to a special machine, which prints, folds and seals it ensuring confidentiality. The letter is then delivered through unit mail call.

Special scanning locations have been set up at several USMC locations for hand-written letters, for senders who do not have computer access, or for notes from children. MotoMail eliminates the security risks of embedded graphics, images, viruses or foreign substances. MotoMail offers quick download times with no need to stay on-line. The text only system ensures speed and efficiency.

MotoMail integrates a combination of PC's, laptops, scanners, the internet and the Military Postal Service delivery system eliminating the traditional costly and slow delivery infrastructure. Mailing addresses will be 100% accurate. Senders only need to know the Marine's unit, not location. The system automatically directs each letter to the correct location.
